Experience 7+1 pieces in Yame City, Fukushima Prefecture

7+1pieces is a program that helps conceptualize the culture of the Yame region's seven areas, allowing people to experience local culture through their five senses. The Yame region consists of fertile plains and gentle hills along the Yabe River, where rich agriculture and forestry have been practiced since ancient times. Yame Fukushima has prospered thanks to the blessings of fertile agricultural and mountainous areas, growing into a hub for traditional crafts and logistics. During Japan's Economic Miracle, the region refined materials for high-quality essential items and sold them all over the country. In the modern day, the role has shifted to cultivating and providing both information and experience, using Yame's rich environment and culture to build new industries for the future.

Here, the Yame region is divided into seven districts: Yame, Tachibana, Hoshino, Yabe, Kuroki, Joyo, and Hirokawa machi, and we offer products that have been further refined with an additional +1 value. That is the origin of our name, 7+1pieces. Based in Yame Fukushima, it elevates the essence of Yame's culture through experiential offerings.

Wakatake Art Exhibition

The Yame region boasts many traditional foods. These recipes have been preserved and continue to adorn dining tables as cherished aspects of the local food culture. Traditional foods consumed over an extended period in a particular region are closely tied to the natural environment and location, often serving as symbolic representations of the local culture. At the 7+1pieces Restaurant, the theme revolves around savoring the unique characteristics of the region including Yame, Tachibana, Hoshino, Yabe, Kuroki, Joyo, and Hirokawa-machi, providing an opportunity to experience the culinary culture of Yame. Traditional foods have been innovatively transformed by our chefs' creativity and techniques, resulting in a seven-course meal.

Some of our offerings include Kuroki-produced ingredients and traditional food, Kuroki-produced Yame tea, and alcoholic and non-alcoholic drinks made in Kuroki. These dishes and drinks offer a delightful experience of tasting the local essence. The 7+1 pieces Restaurant is seasonally exclusive and operates within the historically significant space of the Former Residence of the Kinoshita Family, which is designated as a cultural property by Yame City.

Wakatake Art Exhibition

The Wakatake Art Exhibition is held concurrently with the 7+1pieces program on the grounds of the Kinoshita Family's former residence. 40 art pieces are on display and available for purchase. They are courtesy of Wakatake Workshop, a social welfare facility located next to Yame, in Chikugou City. Please enjoy the freedom and pure expression of wakatake art and its untapped potential, unbound by technicalities and trends.
